THE HOME NEWS.

Go to church today.

Don't miss the Fiddlers Contest to-night.

Only the regular drunks showed up Monday.

Jephtha Onstott, of Stone, has entered the Fiddlers Contest.

How many thousand things have you to be thankful for today?

Monday was an unusually quiet day, considering the big crowd in town.

Another Entry.

Judge M. C. Sautley has entered the Fiddlers Contest and he will play "Marching Through Georgia." His friends pronounce him a winner.

The subject of the discourse at the Methodist church next Sunday at 11 a. m., is "Why do Methodists teach Infant Baptism?" For evening: "To and up Pikes Peak."

An outside "drop" curtain, containing the ads of several local firms has been placed in the opera house. The same amount of money invested in newspaper ads would have brought ten-fold better results.

Services Today.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the Methodist church this morning, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. A. R. Moore. Special music has been arranged for.

Dee Nails 'Em.

Last week, Marshal Dee Turner arrested Jim Buck Baughman, for cutting Dave Denny, a woman named Johnson, for cutting another coon, Sallie Reed and Mat Eason, charged with stealing money. Dee makes the way of the transgressor hard, and deserves a pat on the back.

Bazar.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will have a bazar Tuesday, Dec. 10th, from 2 to 9 o'clock p. m., in the Odd Fellows hall. All kind of fancy and useful articles, and home-made candy will be on hand in great abundance, for sale at low prices. This will be a good place to get your Christmas presents and candy. No admission fee charged, everyone invited. Remember, afternoon and night, December 10th.

Miss Lusk Honored.

At the meeting of the Teachers Association of the Eighth Congressional District, Miss Elisa J. Lusk, of this city, was made a member of the executive committee. One better qualified for the place could not have been found.

Carriage Dealers Association.

Messrs. Romans & Elmore, the local carriage men, attended the Association at Cincinnati last week, and bought a tremendous line of all the latest patterns of vehicles, besides getting all the new pointers on the business.

Arm Sprained.

Mr. Charley Doty's Garrard county friends will regret to learn that he sprained his shoulder very badly at Lexington the other day, it being necessary to place it in a plaster plate. He is suffering greatly, but we understand is improving rapidly.

Supper at The Grove.

The ladies of the Grove church will serve an oyster supper tomorrow, Friday night, at the residence of Mrs. R. M. Robinson. Oysters will be served in all styles, and, if you want to help a noble cause and at the same time get a good supper, be there.

Shooting on the Chute.

A white man named Gay and Will Royston, the colored bass fiddle player in Green's band, had a difficulty on the Chute Saturday in which some six or eight shots were fired. No one was hit. It is said the trouble came up over Gay kicking Royston's dog.

A Good Appointment.

At the meeting of the Trustees of the Lancaster Cemetery, Mr. Solon B. Henry, the present sexton, was unanimously re-appointed for another year. Mr. Henry takes great pains in looking after the lots in the cemetery, and those interested are glad he has been retained as sexton.

Robbed the Safe.

Burglars entered the meat shop of Jesse Lynn at Danville Tuesday night and secured between $150 and $200 from the safe. The combination was worked. The entrance was effected through the rear window, and the burglar hurt himself badly on the glass, leaving a trail of blood.

Court Day.

A good crowd came in Monday and the merchants did a good day's business. There were about 250 cattle at the pens, about 200 changing hands. Steers brought 24 to 34, bulls 2 to 24, cows 14 to 24. There was much stuff for sale, but the demand was unusually light.

Adams.

After a lingering illness, Mr. John T. Adams died at the Lakeland Asylum last week. His remains were interred at the Lancaster Cemetery Friday morning. He was a son of the late Jones L. Adams, and was well known to the people of Garrard county. Services were conducted by Rev. Allen R. Moore.

Standard Attractions.

The opera house management has refused to play several common attractions, and has the following splendid ones booked for the near future: Harris-Parkinson Stock Co.; Gorton's Minstrels; "Rag Time Girls" Labadus; "Faust;" Carpenters "Quo Vadis" and Gus Sun's Minstrels. Such attractions seldom visit cities of Lancaster's population.

A Big Haul.

Sunday, Policeman Turner located a big crap game in the old Ark, on the chute. He at once raided the den and arrested nineteen negroes and two "white fellers." The whole push was taken before Judge E. Brown Monday morning and were made to dance to the tune of $23 and costs. Some paid, some repleved and some went to the work house.

Honored Again.

At the National Fox Hunter's meeting at Estill Springs last week, our good friend and countryman, Mr. W. S. Walker, was again honored by being elected vice-president of the Association. This organization is composed of prominent men from all over the United States, and no one is more popular among them than is Mr. Walker. He has a lot of the best dogs in the country, and no amount of money could buy some of them.

A Strong Attraction.

The Harris-Parkinson Stock Co., which will be at Garrard opera house Dec. 9th, 10th and 11th, is an up-to-date attraction. It played Lebanon last week to a crowded house, and played a return engagement at Ashland, filling the house. Attractive specialties will be introduced. Although it is worth standard prices, the admission will only 15, 25 and 35 cents.

Can't Understand.

The other day Mr. Clay Sutton, the "bar" and snake writer, ordered some steak from Col. Tom Elkin, the local meat market magnate. The next day Mr. Sutton made another order, saying at the bottom of the note that the former order was "bully." Col. Elkin has since been tearing his hair, trying to figure out whether Sutton was poking fun or complimenting.

Hanging in Danville.

The court of appeals has decided that the negro, Quinn, who killed a policeman at Danville, had a perfectly fair and impartial trial, and will not interfere with the judgment of the trial court. So our neighboring city will have a necktie party on the 20th of next month. Nothing helps the cause of law and order more than a first-class hanging, and if more rope was called into play the pistol users would soon learn to respect the law.

Scarcity of Homes.

Somerset Journal:—"The cry for more houses for people to live in seems almost universal in a large portion of Kentucky. There is a house famine in Danville, Lancaster, Harrodsburg; Lexington is short of houses for the people, and in Somerset families are doubled up in most uncomfortable confusion. Will some practical economist tell us why money is not invested in homes to rent to the people who are clamoring for them?"

At the "Te-He" Age.

The behavior, or more properly speaking, the misbehavior at the evening services in some of the local churches recently is disgusting in the extreme. Last Sunday night some of the "Te-He" crowd talked aloud and disturbed the entire congregation. If the parents of these urchins would take more pains in their training, the youngsters would probably learn to sit still while in God's house, but if the proper "training" were given, we doubt if they could sit at all.

Lift for the Williams Show.

A dispatch says Tom Williams, the admiral of his wife, was given a verdict for $11,000 against the L. and N. railroad in a suit at Elizabethtown. Mrs. Williams was hurt by a freight train crashing into the Williams Company show car. The Williams people played two engagements in Lancaster, each lasting a week. During the last engagement, it is said the male members of the troupe ran up against a crap game, losing the entire week's receipts to local craps-shooters.

Thanks, Judge Hughes.

The local public should vote thanks to Judge M. D. Hughes for canceling the date with the "Uncle from New York" company last week. As advertised in THE RECORD, the show was to appear at the local opera house Thursday night, but Judge Hughes, the clever manager of the house, got an inkling that the show was bum and telephoned if they came he would refuse to open the theatre to them. He is working hard to give the people only first-class entertainments, as this move goes to prove.

Electric Railway.

Articles of incorporation were filed in Danville Monday organizing the Danville Electric Power and Railway Co. The capital stock is $1,000 with privilege to increase to $100,000. The company was organized for the purpose of building and operating electric lines through and in Danville, Junction City and Shelby City. It is calculated that with all connections, sidings and appliances, about eight miles of line will be built and operated in and between these three towns. Passenger connections will be established with all trains leaving Junction City, but the principal object of the promoters is to secure better facilities for handling freight.

A Capital Idea.

As the Public Square is worn down to plain dirt, as a matter of course it will have to be repaired in some way. A suggestion has been made that the Council investigate the street work recently done in Paris, Ky., as it is giving greater satisfaction than any plan recently invented. The plan is to cover the surface with a thin layer of screenings (small stone broken by the rock crushers) then sprinkle with a cheap oil, another layer of screenings and then more oil. This will beat down as hard as iron, and the oil completely does away with the dust, which is such a nuisance and causes the merchants so much trouble. This plan is said to be very cheap, and THE RECORD suggests that the Council either write or send a man to Paris to investigate the idea. The sprinkling of an occasional cart load of rock on the Square will do no good now, as it is completely worn out all over, and we understand the Paris idea will not cost as much as it will to place as much of the old time stone as will be necessary to make the street what it should be. It has to be fixed; so why not do it in the right way? Patching will do no more good, as there's nothing there to patch.

Change in Time.

A change in the L. and N. time table went into effect last Sunday, by which the local trains are effected slightly. The first thing to remember is the fact that the night train out of Cincinnati (No. 5) now leaves that city at 7:30 p. m., instead of 7:45 as heretofore. THE RECORD publishes all time tables every issue, but cut this out and you may be saved trouble. Also remember that the following is LEAVING time:

South-bound pas'gr (midn't..12:11a.m
North-bound pas'gr..... 2:44a.m
South-bound mixed..... 11:05a.m
North-bound mixed..... 3:35p.m

Circuit Court.

The November term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened Monday, with His Honor, Judge M. C. Sautley on the bench and Commonwealth's Attorney John Sam Owsley present to look after the state's interests. The charge to the grand jury was clear and timely, the attention of the jury being called to all the latest wrinkles in crime and the methods adopted by criminals to escape justice. Following is the list of the GRAND JURY.

Alex Gill was given ten days and twenty-five dollars for concealed weapons; J C Stitts, assault and battery, one cent and costs; Jack Johnston, grand larceny, continued; Welcome Clark, horse stealing, not guilty; Squire Pointer, false swearing, not guilty. A batch of other little 244 Commonwealth's cases were disposed of yesterday, none of general interest. Court adjourned yesterday for Thanksgiving, and will not reconvene until next Monday morning.

Old Fiddlers to-night.

Remember Their Dead.

Next Sunday afternoon, the members of Richmond Lodge, No. 581, B. P. O. Elks, will assemble in their hall to hold appropriate services in respect to the departed brethren of the order. Several addresses will be made and delightful music rendered. The public is cordially invited. This noble order does more to show respect and remembrance to its dead than does any other of which we have any knowledge.

CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS.

Many Attending the Hunters' Meeting. Sly Reynard, Bob White and Brer. Rabbit in Trouble.

Crab Orchard, Ky., Nov. 25, 1901.

EDITOR RECORD:

Everything is in readiness for the assembling of the Kentucky Beagle Club here this week, for a ten days hunt and field trials in this ideal place for sport. Foxes, rabbits and quail are abundant. Besides General Gentry, of Lexington, has brought with him four large red foxes and his famous Kansas Jack rabbit, Admiral Schley, all of which will be turned loose in broad day light during the meeting. Hunters with their packs began to arrive a week in advance and already three preliminary skirmishes have taken place. This morning eighteen rabbits were started in a field in full view of the office, the chase being participated in by beagles of Col. John M. G. Watt, of Frankfort, and General Gentry, of Lexington. The guests assembled on a knoll while the sport progressed. Ten rabbits were brought in, one, as large almost as a grey fox, going clear to Dix river and returning with the beagles in hot pursuit, lay down in the road exhausted, was picked up and presented to a lady in the party. The hunters thought the big rabbit was a fox and were given as much sport as if he were.

Tomorrow and along during the balance of the meeting a red fox will be released. On Friday night General Gentry will give a big o'possum supper with thirty-seven o'possums served with old Virginia trimmings. Quail and other delicacies for desert. Friday night a party went out for a coon hunt and as a result four fat ones are hanging on a line with the rabbits and o'possums and quail, eloquent evidences of the kind of sport in store. All kinds of hunters and dogs are welcome. Rates, only $1.00 per day. C. E. Woods.

Importance of Cattle.

The growing importance of the cattle industry is recognized by the newspapers in the country, which are devoting more and more space to matters of interest relating to it. It was not so many years ago that market reports in the great dailies were practically confined to grain and produce. Now almost all our western daily papers report not only the cattle market, but all reporters are admonished that anything relating to the cattle industry is an item of news, and must be gathered in and duly published as such. There were never so many people interested in the business of stock-raising, directly or indirectly, as today, and this important industry is at last taking the rank to which its importance entitles it.—Miles City Stock Growers' Journal.

Friends of E. B. Evans, of Little Hickman, and T. L. Baughman, of Danville, have entered them in the Old Fiddlers Contest.
